

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgements.....	ii
Abstract.....	iii
Executive Summary.....	iv
List of Figures.....	xii
Abbreviations.....	xiii
Glossary.....	xiv
Chapter
1. INTRODUCTION.....	1
Methods.....	2
Geography.....	4
Brief history.....	6
Pohnpei today.....	9
State and municipal governance structures.....	12
Traditional political governance and community structures.....	13
Sakau.....	16
Definition of terminologies and usage.....	19
2. EVOLUTION OF A WATERSHED MANAGEMENT PROGRAM.....	22
Significant crossroads: a legacy of successes, challenges, and lessons learned.....	36
Extension program with communities.....	37
Asian Development Bank grant years.....	40
1995: Governor rejects the rules and regulations.....	45
Natural disasters.....	49
Transitions.....	50
3. BUILDING ON THE PAST, UNDERSTANDING THE PRESENT, AND PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE: SHARED INSIGHTS FROM PARTIES.....	54
Building on the past: key observations and accomplishments.....	55
Understanding the present: current challenges.....	66
Planning for the future: next steps in moving forward.....	73
4. ORGANIZATIONAL ISSUES AND INVOLVEMENT OF PARTIES: OBSERVATIONS OF PARTICIPANTS.....	76
The unique roles, contributions, and challenges of organizations and parties.....	77
Improving the collaborative process.....	91
Involvement with the program.....	94
A review of current issues: five key areas to focus efforts.....	97
5. MOVING FORWARD.....	102
Learning from others: a review of case studies.....	103
Enforcement.....	104

Case studies concerning enforcement systems and institutions..	106
Case studies involving people engaged in enforcement.....	107
Building capacity in both communities and the Division of Forestry to co-manage.....	108
Studies outlining challenges to quality participation with communities.....	111
Cases and studies concerning successes with community-based approaches.....	112
Community attributes for success.....	113
Organizational & process attributes for success..	114
Cases and studies concerning community capacity issues.....	116
General lessons concerning community-based approaches.....	118
Improving the Division of Forestry’s capacity.....	119
Developing political will for participatory management and commitment to a collaborative approach	121
Cases featuring how the state demonstrated political will and commitment for participatory management and collaborative approaches.....	124
Studies outlining state benefits of participatory management and building understanding of the need for participatory management.....	125
Studies highlighting key factors influencing effective participatory management.....	126
Increasing communication between groups and improving overall coordination.....	129
Studies, reports, and cases highlighting key factors to consider when designing and structuring coordinating institutions and collaborative alliances.....	131
Mitigating effects of a shift to a cash economy.....	134
 6. CONCLUSION AND RECOMMENDATIONS.....	 137
 Appendix
A. Timeline: History of watershed management on Pohnpei.....	146
B. The Pohnpei Watershed Forest Reserve and Mangrove Protection Act of 1987.....	149
C. Diagram outlining both direct and indirect threats to upland forests.....	159
D. Interview questions (both English and Pohnpeian versions).....	160
E. An assessment of parties and organizations for effective participation in a collaborative process.....	164
F. Towards community involvement in watershed management on Pohnpei: some lessons learned.....	172
G. An assessment of the Community Conservation Officers Program.....	174
 BIBLIOGRAPHY.....	 184